

9 signs that you need an automated BI system

If you recognise any of these situations you're probably not getting maximum benefit from your data and Business Intelligence (BI) system.

But, there's a solution. At The Information Factory our business intelligence products and digital solutions are focused on putting data to work, refining raw unconnected information and turning it into actionable insights that drive decision making. Contact us for a professional, no obligations review of how to harness the power of your data.

You're spending a lot of time (and money) manually preparing reports

Data is difficult to access so you're not using everything available to you

The volume of data is growing and becoming harder to manage

Only a few people have access to the data, reports and analysis

There might be many data sources and arguments about whose data is the most accurate or trustworthy i.e. there's no 'single version of the truth'

People are complaining about delays in receiving their reports

Reports are difficult to understand

Reports don't fit with business requirements and it's difficult to adapt them for different departments and user levels

Reporting metrics are not always consistent

At The Information Factory our data driven solutions are focused on putting your data to work, refining raw, disconnected data and turning it into something that is actionable – giving you the power to know what to do.